

Position Green kicks-off newest podcast series in conversation with leading clean tech innovator Freyr Battery Norway

31 August 2023, Oslo, Norway

Position Green, the Nordic region's largest, independent pure play sustainability company, has launched a new podcast series to accompany its annual ESG100 report - Sustainable Edge. The series, hosted by Position Green Co-Founder and Executive Chair Joachim Nahem, will centre on a variety of guests who bring their unique perspective of corporate sustainability transformation and ESG, and how best to drive value creation and increase competitiveness by turning ESG data insights into targeted action.

Position Green

SUSTAINABLE EDGE

Podcast host: Joachim Nahem, Position Green
Guest: Hege Marie Norheim, Freyr Battery

Executive Chair Joachim Nahem sits down with Executive VP Hege Marie Norheim to discuss the energy transition, sustainability, and all things ESG.

In this inaugural episode of Sustainable Edge, Position Green invited Hege Marie Norheim, Executive Vice President of Corporate Affairs & Sustainability at Freyr Battery Norway, a Norwegian-founded leader in developing environmentally friendly, grid level battery storage systems, listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Discussions dove right into the heart of the energy transition, when host and guest explored Freyr's goals to provide industrial scale clean battery solutions to reduce global emissions and help alleviate the climate crisis. As typifies many of these podcast episodes, Hege Marie shared Freyr's journey, right from its very inception to the IPO and listing on the New York Stock Exchange, its commitment to a sustainable value chain, and why having a 'green' product is not enough to drive the energy transition.

Other themes covered include poignant discussions on ESG materiality, human rights in supply chains, global regulations reacting to the United States' Inflation Reduction Act, and the continued rise of green energy infrastructure.

The ESG100 report, of which this podcast series accompanies, is entering its sixth year. This large scale study represents an industry first in its assessment of how well prepared listed companies are for the European Sustainability Reporting Standards (ESRS), expected to become EU law and implemented on 1 January 2024. In this report, those assessed represent the largest 100 companies from Norway, Denmark, and Sweden, including some of Europe's most recognizable corporate names.

Future guests Position Green looks forward to welcoming onto this podcast will include: Alexandra Morris, Investment Director at Skagen Funds; Kiran Aziz, Head of Responsible Investments at KLP, and Hugo Munthe-Kaas, Head of Compliance at DLA Piper Norway. To access this and future episodes, please go via our website here. You will also be able to subscribe and access via these platforms: Spotify, Apple Podcasts, Google Podcasts, Audacy, and Deezer.

About Position Green

Position Green is the largest independent sustainability firm in the Nordics, and a pioneer in ESG transformation. As a pure play sustainability partner supporting organisations to accelerate their sustainability journey, it provides proprietary ESG reporting software solutions, advisory services, assurance, and a learning and academy offering. With ESG data at the heart of the offering, Position Green works together with clients to navigate an evolving regulatory landscape, accelerate sustainability performance and sharpen their competitive edge. By making sustainability measurable and actionable, companies can transform and streamline their ESG data management and reporting processes and embed sustainability strategies that reduce risk and create value.

As of July 2023, Position Green has over 600 clients worldwide, including more than 50 GP/LPs, and more than 260 employees across Sweden, Norway, Denmark, the UK, the US, and Belgium.

Read more at www.positiongreen.com

James Gittings

PR & Communications Manager

james.gittings@positiongreen.com

+44 (0) 7961 875 112