Position Green recognized as ESG software market Innovator by independent analyst firm

30 June, 2025

Position Green, a leading ESG Management Software, is proud to announce its inclusion in the Verdantix Green Quadrant: ESG & Sustainability Reporting Software, 2025 report. We believe the recognition as an Innovator highlights Position Green's unwavering commitment to providing innovative, purposedriven solutions that empower organizations to meet the growing demand for high-quality sustainability data - transforming it into a strategic asset at the heart of business decision-making and performance.

According to Luke Gowland, Senior Analyst at Verdantix: "Amid growing regulatory uncertainty and rising stakeholder scrutiny, organizations can no longer rely on fragmented systems or manual processes to manage sustainability disclosures. The demand for accurate, auditable and real-time (or near real-time) sustainability data has elevated reporting software from a supporting tool to a strategic requirement. The 2025 Green Quadrant highlights those vendors best positioned to help firms navigate evolving requirements, meet assurance expectations and embed sustainability performance into core business decision-making".

"At Position Green, we see sustainability reporting and management evolving into a core strategic function." says Daniel Gadd, Co-founder and CEO of Position Green. "Our software is designed to anticipate and adapt to evolving corporate sustainability, delivering real-time, auditable ESG data that supports robust decision-making across the business. We're proud to be recognized as one of the leading vendors supporting organizations as they navigate the complex sustainability landscape by making sustainability data driven, auditable and actionable."

For more information about Position Green's Sustainability Suite, visit our website.

About Position Green

Position Green is one of Europe's leading ESG software and advisory companies, offering a suite of tools that help businesses simplify ESG data management, manage business risks related to ESG, and align ESG actions and business strategy.

Media contact

Louise Alsheimer-Niklasson
Chief Marketing Officer
louise@positiongreen.com